

EADP Travel Fellowships to attend the European Conference on Developmental Psychology in Turku, Finland

The European Association for Developmental Psychology will sponsor early career researchers with travel awards, in the amount of 250 €, to help them to participate in the ECDP 2023 in Turku, Finland.

Who can apply?

Applications are welcome from early career scholars from around the world who are PhD students or who defended their dissertation not earlier than 2019. Membership of EADP is necessary.

How to apply?

After your paper has been accepted, and you got the notification from ECDP 2023, please send the following documents to the Early Researchers' Union event and secretary support Ana Catarina Canário (anacanario@fpce.up.pt) from March 16 to April 15, 2023.

1. Title and abstract of your accepted presentation at the EADP conference,
2. Description of your research (max 500 words),
3. Current CV including education and major academic achievements (max 1 A4 page),
4. Personal statement explaining how attending the EADP conference will help advancing your career and work (max 250 words)

Notifications about the application results should be sent by the award committee until May 15, 2023.